MOBILE DEVELOPER

Loudly is a startup located in Berlin, Dresden and Krakow that launched the successful Music Maker Jam app on Android and iOS platforms and is now looking to expand its business into more products and more platforms.

We are looking for an experienced mobile developer to join our agile and remote team.

YOUR ROLE

If you want to be part of a development team that creates amazing music applications for millions of fans around the globe, then this is the right job for you!

You will be one of six team members that is rapidly prototyping new ideas for a brand new music creation application that is centered on the combination of music technology and artificial intelligence. Profound iOS knowledge is required in this role as the goal is to expand the existing prototype onto the Apple platform. Your role is very versatile and you should be prepared to tackle a wide variety of tasks during this phase.

Become part of a small team of professionals with a flat hierarchy and get inspired by a technology that is built upon years of experience from creating globally successful music creation software.

REQUIRED SKILLS

We assume that you have several years of relevant professional programming experience, however individuals with extreme talent will always be considered. You are capable of delivering well-structured code that finds the right balance between quick results and maintainability.

Required skills are:

• Professional experience in iOS development
• Experience in teamwork and agile development, especially SCRUM
• Passion for music and music technology in particular
• High sense of quality and polish
• Capable of taking on the technical responsibility for a product or project

Applicants with knowledge in at least one of the following areas are welcome:

• Audio programming and musical knowledge
• Web-technology and integration of web-services and social platforms
• Excellent C++

Want to join the team that builds the next big music community?

If you are interested, please apply! You can send your resume to: jobs@justaddmusic.net

Applications must be in English

To check out our app just click the link(s) below:

https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.magix.android.mmjam&hl=de https://itunes.apple.com/de/app/music-maker-jam-produziere/id880929886?mt=8

Patreon project:
https://www.patreon.com/loudlystudio